

Dr. Patty Ann's Stop Fighting About Money Quiz:

Do any of these scenarios sound familiar to you? Review the questions to get a snapshot of how finances and the subject of money influence your relationship.

1. Do you and your partner constantly fight about money or hide purchases (not just gifts) or money from each other?
 Yes No
2. Does fighting about money get in the way of intimacy in your relationship? Do you or your partner believe you are not having enough sex (believe it or not, your disagreements about money could be the cause)?
 Yes No
3. Do you and your partner disagree on how much money to spend on leisure activities?
 Yes No
4. Do you find your partner's family is always butting in and influencing your personal and financial matters?
 Yes No
5. Do you or your partner have different views on how much money you should save or spend?
 Yes No

If you or your partner answered yes to just one of these questions, it's time for you to stop fighting about money now. Once you identify your money issues, you can learn how to stop fighting about money once and for all.

Any of the scenarios outlined in the questions can greatly impact your relationship. And, now that you know money fights are one of the most common occurrences in relationships you can fix the problem.

You know that fighting about money is a serious issue in your relationship. Discover the secrets to resolve your money fights with Dr. Patty Ann's Relationship Toolbox™. You should get started right now.